PRO SERIES HALF CAGE

(Part #3226)

The not-so-little brother to the 3221 Power Cage, the Pro Series Half Cage doesn't cut back on anything but floor space. Among the most popular of our products, the Pro Series Half Cage features only 12 frame bolts but dozens of features and accessories. The open design also means a reduced footprint and cost compared to full cage models.

The Ultimate in Strength & Rigidity

11 gauge 3x3-inch tubing and 7 gauge, chrome-plated racking with laser-cut numbering. Like most Legend Fitness items, the Pro Series Half Cage has been developed with three-dimensional CAD software to use as few fasteners as possible. This entire rack only has 12 bolts across 4 joints, reducing the possible points of weakness and maintenance. Compare that to competitor's cages which use a bajillion bolts (roughly speaking... could be a kajillion).

Monster Hooks

Oversized, dual peg, fully welded bar catches with carry handle, number window and extremely durable yet replaceable polymer contact surfaces. Extended reach profile of hook increases safety without getting in the way. No metal-to-metal contact with the bar protects the knurling and means no rust, no paint chips and more energy absorption. In other words, the part of the cage you interact with most is AWESOME.

Safety When You Need It

The safety arms were overbuilt for when something slips, featuring not only a 3x2-inch cross section and ABS wearguards, but an internal, solid, 1-inch racking rod.

Lots of Storage

Twelve chrome-plated, frame-welded, numbered, Olympic-size plate storage pegs that are slightly angled for safety. Plus two angled storage pegs for resistance bands or chains, and upright bar storage for up to four Olympic bars (can also hold the optional dip attachments and bench rods for the bench docking system).

Extra Versatility

The Pro Series Half Cage also has lower band pegs for band resistance exercises, a multi grip pull-up bar, and an available bench docking system (a no-cost option).
